

November 8, 2013

NOTICE

NPDES Permits

The City of Brookhaven would like to take this opportunity to notify Owners, Developers, Architects, Engineers, Surveyors, and Contractors.

If you are currently the holder of a NPDES Notice of Intent Permit (NOI) of ANY TYPE (IE Primary, Secondary, Tertiary etc.) and if you are not ready to file a Notice of Termination to the State EPD, your permit is set to expire DECEMBER 24, 2013.

The following is what you need to do to remain in compliance.

1. File a New NOI Form with the State EPD and the local permitting agency. The new NOI forms must be the September 2013 Version. This form can be down loaded from the State EPD website: http://www.gaepd.org/Documents/construction_stormwater.html . This new NOI Form must be sent to the State EPD by December 24, 2013.

Failure to meet this deadline will result in your project being in a status of non-compliance. Projects that are deemed in non-compliance will be subject to new plan reviews and the new regulations. Additionally all fees will have to be re-paid.

Please contact Carl Carver (404) 637-0528, City Engineer for the City of Brookhaven if you have any questions.